TACTICAL EVIDENTIARY SIGNIFICANCE (ARCHIVAL SENTINEL ANALYSIS):
International treaty whereby Spain relinquishes Cuba directly into United States military occupation, with the United States expressly assuming international law obligations.

VERBATIM PRIMARY SOURCE TRANSCRIPTION:

TREATY OF PEACE BETWEEN THE UNITED STATES AND SPAIN (Treaty of Paris).

ARTICLE I. Spain relinquishes all claim of sovereignty over and title to Cuba. And as the island is, upon its evacuation by Spain, to be occupied by the United States, the United States will, so long as such occupation shall last, assume and discharge the obligations that may under international law result from the fact of its occupation, for the protection of life and property.

ARTICLE XVI. It is understood that any obligations assumed in this treaty by the United States with respect to Cuba are limited to the time of its occupancy thereof; but it will upon the termination of such occupancy, advise any Government established in the island to assume the same obligations.

Done at Paris, the tenth day of December, 1898.
