TACTICAL EVIDENTIARY SIGNIFICANCE (ARCHIVAL SENTINEL ANALYSIS):
U.S. Military Government orders denying back pay, officer pensions, and land allotments to Afro-Cuban troops led by General Quintín Bandera, dismantling the multiracial Liberation Army.

VERBATIM PRIMARY SOURCE TRANSCRIPTION:

Headquarters Division of Cuba, Havana, May 27, 1899.

Special Orders No. 84:

Regarding the distribution of the three-million-dollar fund for the disbandment of the Cuban Revolutionary Army:
1. Only soldiers surrendering serviceable arms will receive the per capita gratuity of seventy-five dollars.
2. No commissions, retirement pensions, or rank-based compensation shall be paid to officers of the Liberation Army.
3. The roster submitted by General Quintín Bandera and officers of the Oriente Division is rejected as irregular; commissioned status of Afro-Cuban officers is not recognized by the Military Government of the United States.
