TACTICAL EVIDENTIARY SIGNIFICANCE (ARCHIVAL SENTINEL ANALYSIS):
Ambassador Sumner Welles directs covert intervention and naval vessel deployments to block nationalist agrarian reforms and install military strongman Fulgencio Batista.

VERBATIM PRIMARY SOURCE TRANSCRIPTION:

American Embassy, Havana, September 18, 1933.

Secret Telegram to the Secretary of State, Washington, D.C.

The Grau San Martín administration has enacted radical decrees confiscating foreign sugar properties and establishing an eight-hour workday. This regime is thoroughly communist in tendency and cannot be recognized. I have met privately with Army Chief of Staff Fulgencio Batista. He understands that American recognition and continued sugar quotas depend entirely upon the elimination of radical elements and the protection of American investments. The presence of our naval destroyers in Havana harbor has reinforced his determination to act.

SUMNER WELLES
